

The National Data Center and Debtor Attorney Information

What is the National Data Center?

The National Data Center (www.ndc.org) is an organization created by the National Association of Chapter 13 Trustees to make it easier for parties in the Chapter 13 process to receive and access case information.

Enrolling in the National Data Center:

The NDC is free for debtors and debtor attorneys. Debtors just need to visit the NDC website to get started. Debtor attorneys need to contact a trustee office who handles their cases. Give that trustee the following information:

- 1) All firm names that you have filed under (ie: The Jones Law Firm, Tom Jones, The Law Offices of Tom Jones, etc)
- 2) The email address you want associated with the account
- 3) A UserID you want associated with the account.

The Trustee office will get the data enrolled with the NDC and they will contact you to complete the signup. You can then contact other Trustee offices to get signed up. Tell them you are already enrolled. Give them your email address and firm names and they can link their data to your account.

What Can I do with the National Data Center?

The NDC will put all of your open Chapter 13 cases under a single account. You will not need to create separate logons for each Trustee.

You can view a video of case specific information that is available via the NDC at this link:

https://youtu.be/AyNg_VsaYXs

The case information for debtor attorneys is similar. Also note that you can export your case data from the NDC to do more of your own analysis.

NDC DEBTOR ATTORNEY INFORMATION SCREENS

The following pages outline the data that is available to debtor attorneys via the NDC website. Note that some information below has been blacked out to obscure information that could identify debtors and/or attorneys.

Other Features

The NDC will also be able to house mass documents mailed from the Trustees. Mass mailed documents like Periodic Reports and Tax Letters can be viewed from the site. The NDC will send out a notification email when documents are available for viewing.

The NDC is improving its value to debtor attorneys. Please give us feedback on other features, reports and notifications you would like to see. Unfortunately Plan Calc will not be available via the NDC.
